

ART

The art concentration at Northeast Community College allows students to experiment in many phases of art, including line, form, color, and perspective, as well as the history of art. Students apply these basics to a variety of artistic skills such as painting, design, photography, and drawing.

After earning an associate of arts degree, students may choose to enter the labor force or transfer to a four-year college for a bachelor's degree in art. Career opportunities that value artistic skills may be found in fine arts, commercial art, photography, museums/galleries, media, fashion design, textile design, interior design, art sales, art therapy, or retail.
