NOTE: It is expected that students will have selected a course of study during their 3rd or 4th semester at Wayne State College. Working with an advisor, our students begin to learn how to make decisions, incorporate new educational and cultural experiences into their thinking, and assess what they expect from their education and their lives. As they become more certain about their interests and learn to evaluate their abilities, they become more comfortable about setting short-term and long-range goals. They find that choosing an appropriate major becomes a natural - and not too painful - process.
